CENTER FOR GUARDIANSHIP CERTIFICATION 2009 ANNUAL REPORT

Background

The Center For Guardianship Certification (CGC) was created in 1996 as an allied foundation of the National Guardianship Association (NGA) to enhance the quality of guardianship services through national certification. CGC views certification not as the end, but as a means to demonstrate to the public, clients, and the courts that the certified guardian has sufficient skill, knowledge and understanding of the universal guardianship principles to be worthy of the responsibility entrusted to him or her.

Certification entitles the guardian to represent to the courts and the public that he or she is eligible to be appointed, is not disqualified by prior conduct, agrees to abide by universal ethical standards governing a person with fiduciary responsibilities, submits to a disciplinary process, and can demonstrate through a written test an understanding of basic guardianship principles and laws.

Vision Statement

Every professional guardian will obtain and maintain CGC certification.

Mission Statement

The mission of the Center for Guardianship Certification is to enhance the quality of guardianship services by providing examination and certification of guardians and fiduciaries,

Purpose

The purpose of the Center for Guardianship Certification includes:

- Developing and administering a credentialing process for guardians and guardianship agencies;
- Addressing issues related to renewal, suspension and revocation of credentials for guardians and guardianship agencies;
- Maintaining and up-dating rules and regulations for certification of guardians;
- Encouraging, supporting and fostering the work of the National Guardianship Association.

2009 Accomplishments

Strategic Planning Implementation - The Board of Trustees held a strategic planning session in January 2009. The mission, vision and purpose were revised and approved by the Board, as follows:

Vision Statement - Every professional guardian will obtain and maintain CGC certification.

Mission Statement - The mission of the Center for Guardianship Certification is to enhance the quality of guardianship services by providing examination and certification of guardians and fiduciaries.

Purpose - The purpose of the Center for Guardianship Certification includes:

- A. Developing and administering a credentialing process for guardians and guardianship agencies;
- B. Addressing issues related to renewal, suspension and revocation of credentials for guardians and guardianship agencies;
- C. Maintaining and up-dating rules and regulations for certification of guardians;
- D. Encouraging, supporting and fostering the work of the National Guardianship Association.

In addition to these items, the Trustees also developed and prioritized the following organizational goals through 2014: National respect, recognition, and utilization; Fiscal sustainability; Influence public policy regarding quality guardians; Improve the certification process; Board governance and Internal organizational sustainability.

Board Meetings- The Board of Trustees met in January, April, July and October. Two of those meetings were held via conference call while the other two were held in person.

Certification Promotion - A "What Certification Means to Me" document was developed and posted to the CGC website homepage at www.guardianshipcert.org to promote the benefits of becoming certified.

NMG Star Award - Susan DeBoer, NMG, was awarded the NMG Star Award by CGC. The award was presented in October at the NGA Annual Conference held in Las Vegas, NV. Ms. DeBoer currently serves as the public guardian for Washoe County in Nevada. Nominated by Ginny Casazza, NCG, Susan was described as being dedicated, empowering, and energetic.

CGC President Beth Mathews, NMG, presents the NMG Star Award to Susan DeBoer, NMG

Fred Kretz Cornerstone Award - The Honorable Patrick W. Ferchill received the 2009 Fred Kretz Cornerstone Award from CGC. Nominated by Julia Nack NMG, Judge Ferchill was described as a strong supporter of excellence in guardianship and in certification of guardians. He previously served on the Boards of both the National Guardianship Association (NGA) and the Center for Guardianship Certification (CGC).

State-specific Certifications - CGC's contract to provide examination services to Texas guardians was renegotiated and renewed. CGC continued providing examination services to Florida, California, and Oregon guardians, as well.
